America Submits Pact To Abandon Subs, Lethal Gas

Prolongation of Washington and London Agreements Urged in Draft Submitted at Geneva by U. S. Delegate.

NAVAL REDUCTION AMONG PROPOSALS

Gas and Germ Warfare, Submarines Would Be Banned Under Terms Named by Gibson.

GENEVA, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Nine points which the United States believes may be profitably considered in planning world disarmament were laid before the general disarmament conference early today by Hugh S. Gibson, acting chairman of the American delegation.

The points included the proposal to prolong the Washington and London naval agreements, the further reduction of naval armament, the abolition of submarines and the promotion of land disarmament by restricting tanks and mobile guns, preventing lethal gases and bacteriological warfare, protecting civil population against aerial bombing, limiting defensive forces to those necessary to maintain internal order plus some contingent for defense and by budgetary limitation of expenditures for war supplies when their direct limitation has been secured.

In his address, Mr. Gibson made it clear the Western Hemisphere has no large navy except that of the United States, has no armaments which are feared by its neighbors and has had no war among its nations for 50 years.

"The problem of armaments is not of the Western Hemisphere," he said. "Nevertheless, and in spite of the fact that we ourselves have reduced the personnel of our land forces below the proportion reached by any great European power, we are here to try to do the utmost of our ability."

After presenting the nine concrete points, Mr. Gibson said: "The points are not a list of demands, but a list of suggestions, and extend to other fields the principles of limitation and reduction of armaments already established and to examining and accepting new principles if they contribute genuinely to the end defined."

The following is the full text of Mr. Gibson's statement of the nine American points:

"1. The American government advocates consideration of the draft convention as containing the outlines for a convenient basis for discussion, while expressing its entire willingness to give full consideration to any supplementary proposals calculated to advance the end we all seek."

"2. We suggest the possibility of prolonging the existing naval agreements concluded at Washington and London, and we advocate consideration of the latter as soon as possible by the adherence of France and Italy."

"3. We advocate proportional reduction from the figures laid down in the Washington and London agreements on naval tonnage as soon as all parties to the Washington agreement have entered this framework."

"4. We advocate, as we long have done, the total abolition of submarines."

"5. We will join in formulating the most effective measures to restrict civilian population against aerial bombing."

"6. We advocate the total abolition of lethal gases and bacteriological warfare."

"7. We advocate, as I have already stated, the computation of the number of armed forces on the basis of the effective necessary for the maintenance of internal order plus some suitable contingent for defense. The former are obviously impossible of reduction; the latter is a question of relative."

"8. We agree in advocating special restrictions for tanks and heavy mobile guns, in other words, for those arms of a peculiarly offensive character."

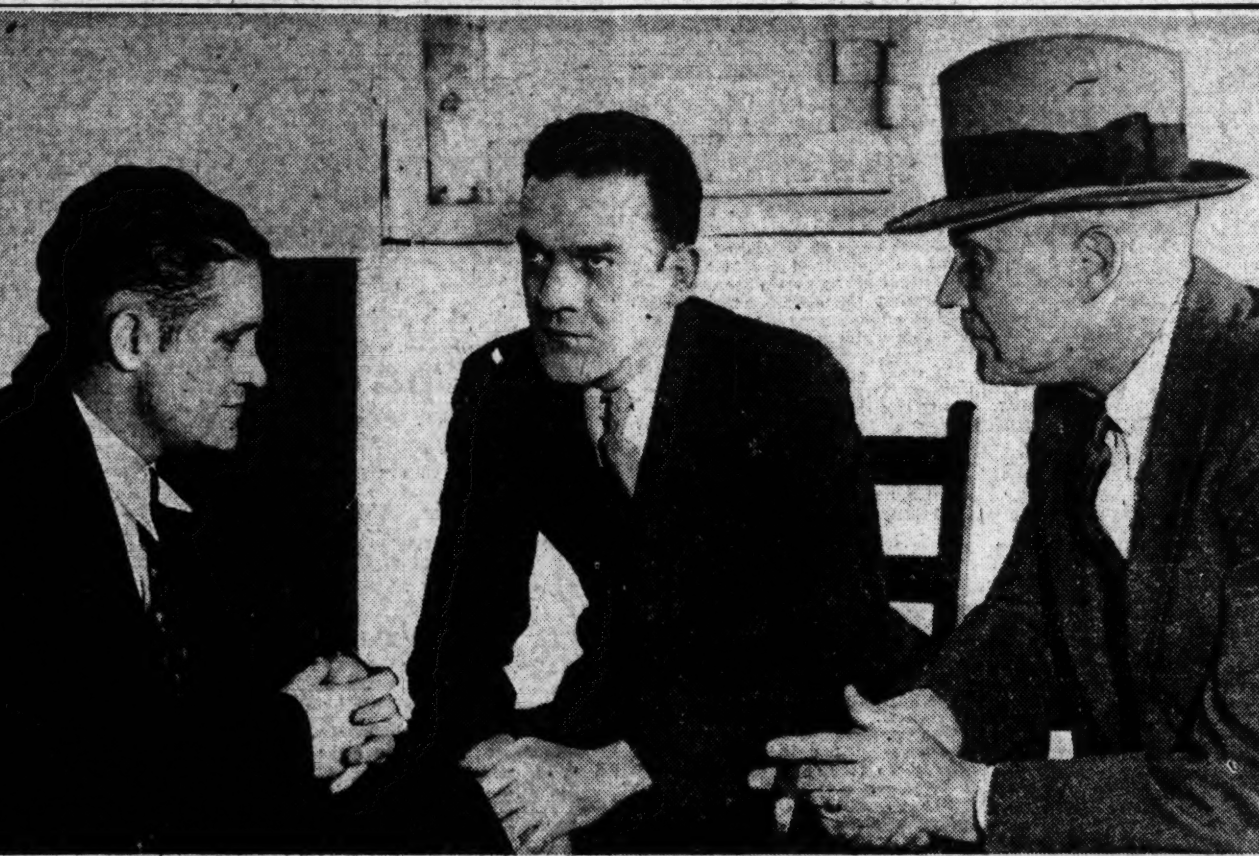

"9. We are prepared to consider a limitation of expenditure on material as a complementary method to direct limitation, feeling that it may prove useful to prevent a qualitative race, if and when quantitative limitation has been effected."

Mr. Gibson concluded his address as follows: "The delegation of the United States is representing not only a government but a people and the mandate from both is in the same unmistakable terms, that decrease in arms is an essential not alone to economic recovery but to the world and also to the preservation of the whole social fabric."

Defense, Prosecution Map Plans on Eve of A. D. Poole's Trial

A. D. POOLE TRIAL WILL OPEN TODAY

Defense Gives Notification of Severance; 50 Extra Veniremen Called.

BY L. A. FARRELL, Staff Correspondent.

ADEL, Ga., Feb. 8.—With 50 extra veniremen summoned for service, selection of a jury to try Patrolman A. Douglas Poole, of Atlanta, on charges of murder, growing out of the death of Miss Winona Patterson, will begin in the superior court here at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning before Judge W. R. Smith, of Nashville.

The decision to try Poole, son of Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole, on charges growing out of the death of Miss Patterson was made after the defense had given notification of severance of the indictment, which jointly accuses Patrolman Hoyt D. Gaines, also of Atlanta, Solicitor-General Henry C. Morgan announced that the Patterson case would be called.

The cases of Poole and Gaines, which were tentatively set for today, were put over until tomorrow when Judge Howard C. Spelman set the hearing for the routine motions pending before the court in order to give the state time to draw the extra jurors and the defense an opportunity to complete a demurrer which is to be offered in behalf of Gaines tomorrow.

Poole and Gaines are under indictment for murder, assault with intent to murder, drunk on a public highway and carrying concealed weapons. The accusations grew out of a crash near here last month between the two men.

Ruth Judd Found Guilty, Must Die on Scaffold

"Tiger Woman" Convicted of First Degree Murder in Brutal Slaying of Agnes Anne Leroy—Verdict Follows Long Deliberation.

COURTHOUSE, PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd was convicted by a jury tonight of the murder of Agnes Anne Leroy. The penalty is death by hanging.

Mrs. Judd heard the reading of the death verdict without the batting of an eye.

Her habitual bandaging and unbandaging of her left hand with her handkerchief did not cease.

She walked unassisted from the courtroom to her cell, staring out of countenance the persons who huddled in her path.

Judge Howard C. Spelman set February 23 as date for sentence.

Mrs. Judd's counsel, Paul Schenck, Herman Lewkowitz and J. B. Zaverzack said they would appeal.

Although the jury was out three hours and 40 minutes, including an hour for dinner, only two ballots were taken. The first ballot, jurymen said, was unanimous for conviction of murder in the first degree.

The second ballot set the penalty, as jurymen finding first-degree murder guilty must do in Arizona.

Mrs. Judd, calm when she passed from sight of a trailing throng of spectators, remained apparently unmoved when she reached her cell.

"She walked into her cell," said

Philadelphia Girl, 7, Is Found Murdered

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The body of 7-year-old Dorothy Lutz, who disappeared from her home Wednesday, was found by police today in a vacant house in North Philadelphia, a few doors from her home. Police said there was evidence the child had been attacked before she was killed.

Four negro men and a negro woman were held for questioning.

The body was found several hours after police and firemen began a door-to-door inquiry in the search for some clue to the child's whereabouts.

The girl was last seen by her mother, Mrs. Florence Lutz, when she left her home to play. Several reports were received that a child answering her description had been seen talking to men on the streets some distance from her home, but investigation failed to reveal any workable clue along these lines.

Mrs. Lutz is a widow of three weeks, she recently moved to her present home at 1007 North American street from another section of Philadelphia.

Kansas City Detective Is Killed by Bandits

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8.—(AP)—O. B. Carpenter, a detective, was killed and Ed Young, another detective, was wounded early today by bandits they surprised apparently preparing to rob the Mercantile Trust Company. The bandits escaped.

The detectives, in a police car, drove past the trust company, Fourteenth and Grand, shortly after 6 o'clock. They found the bandits had captured the janitor. As the detectives approached they were met by gunfire.

Police theorized the bandits planned to hold the janitor and all other employees who arrived until the time lock on the vault opened.

Tokyo Proposes Neutral Regions About China Cities

Day's Developments In Sino-Jap Crisis

By the Associated Press.

Japanese forces, repulsed at Woosung, turned their attack today back on the crushed section of Shanghai, strongly held by Chinese defenders.

Japanese soldiers were landed at the waterfront of the International Settlement and immediately rushed into the battle.

The first phase of the Japanese blue-jacket and army assault along the 16-mile Shanghai-Woosung line came to an end this morning with the Chinese, battered by big guns and assaulted by infantrymen, still clinging to their positions.

The Japanese failed to carry out their plan to reduce the Woosung fortress and then sweep on toward Shanghai.

The spirited defense of the Chinese demonstrated again one of the great lessons of the World War—that machine gunners can take cover against heavy bombardment and survive to stop assault lines with their bullet streams.

Chinese headquarters in Shanghai announced that 500 Japanese had been moved down by machine guns on the Chinese front. The Japanese denied suffering any such losses. The International Settlement in the vicinity of Japanese headquarters and the municipal police station

TOKYO PROPOSAL AMAZES CAPITAL

Suggestion on Neutral Zones Seen as Blow at Chinese Rights.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Reports of the fighting about Shanghai were overshadowed today for official Washington by press dispatches from Tokyo suggesting that Japan may sound out interested powers on the question of creating neutral zones 20 miles wide about China's great ports.

The proposed demilitarization by international agreement of French zones in neutral zones seemed little short of a dismemberment of the country and its partition among foreign powers.

Many thought it would undo the efforts of John Hay and all his successors for the protection of China's territorial integrity.

Ambassador Deluchi, of Japan, called at the state department late in the day and said after his visit he has not received instructions to branch any such proposal.

The abrogation of the nine-power treaty, definitely suggested by a spokesman of the Japanese foreign office as the first step in neutralizing areas about China's ports and settling the Manchurian situation as an independent issue, is unthinkable to signatory powers.

In fact, there is a tendency in official circles to regard the proposal as an effort to bring further peace suggestions from the United States and the three powers which co-operated on the original peace plan.

Dr. Hawking Yen, counselor of the Chinese legation, said demilitarization of zones about China's cities would be "nothing less than dismemberment of China."

"I can scarcely believe such a proposal will be made by Japan to other powers," he added. "It would scrap all the treaties made in more than 30 years and, of course, China would never agree to such an arrangement," he said.

As so interpreted, the suggestion is

Emory Graduate Commits Suicide After Writing Death Story for Paper

DATON BEACH, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—John Paul Ellis, city editor of the News-Journal, was found dead here today on a desolate spot in the dunes not far from the "covered" story of Malcolm Campbell's record-breaking speed trial. He had fired a bullet into his brain.

Ellis's father is Rev. John E. Ellis, of Columbus, Ga., Methodist minister. He has requested the body be shipped to Reynolds, Ga.

Young Ellis, who was 27 years old, was a student at Emory from 1921 to 1925, graduating in 1925. He previously had attended Piedmont College at Demorest, the Toccoa High School, Emory Academy, and the Commercial High School in Atlanta. At Emory he was a member of Delta Tau Delta and Phi Gamma, and contributed to the Wheel and Phoenix. He was born at Tallulah Falls.

Nipponese Fall by Scores Under Withering Machine Gun Fire in Attack Following Battering of Foes' Positions.

BRITISH HALT MOVE ON CHAPEI'S REAR

Nomura, New Jap Commander, Promises Speedy Solution; Chinese Shells Imperil Foreigners

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9.—(Tuesday)—Japanese hammered the rain-washed ruins of Chapei again today in a new attack, on Chinese strongholds in Shanghai after a furious assault on the forts of Woosung had been turned back by the raking fire of Chinese machine guns.

They shelled the battlefield here with light artillery, while Japanese airplanes dropped bombs and ripped machine-gun bullets into the area already torn by eleven days of intermittent bombardment and ravaged by fires.

Japanese soldiers were rushed into Chapei to reinforce the blue-jackets already there.

Japs To Continue Drive.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister to China, said the offensive would continue until the Chinese were driven back at least 20 miles from Shanghai. That was his reply to the proposal of Vice-Admiral Sir Howard Kelly, commander of the British naval forces, for an immediate end to the hostilities. The proposal had been accepted in principle by the Chinese.

The first contingent of Japanese troops was landed at the International Settlement this morning.

The soldiers stepped ashore at the docks of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha steamship line in the Japanese-occupied Hongkew section. One detachment after another raced toward Chapei in motor trucks.

Three truckloads of Japanese army and navy troops landed today approximately 600 sturdy and smartly attired regular soldiers, all in fighting trim, landed before noon.

Dispatches from Nanking today disclosed that the Chinese government, at its temporary seat in Honanfu, had united the several political factions against Japan's onslaught in Shanghai.

The country has been divided into four military zones with Marshal Chiang Kai-shek co-ordinating all commands.

Once again the Chinese had demonstrated one of the great military lessons of the World War—that machine gunners, hidden in holes in the ground, can take heavy bombardment and their rise up to place streams of bullets between themselves and the assaulting lines of the enemy.

The Japanese failed in their plan to reduce the Woosung fortresses and then sweep on towards Shanghai, where they might pinch the Chinese army against the harbor.

Another attempt was in prospect today. It was expected that new Japanese army units would be called into action for this second assault, but all details of Japanese troop movements were kept secret.

The major movements of the Japanese attack that got under way yesterday and continued until the guns were stilled shortly after 1 a. m., were centered at the village of Woosung, and at Chapei in Shanghai.

Chinese headquarters in Shanghai announced that a Japanese assaulting force of 500 men had been moved down by machine guns on the Chapei front.

According to the Chinese version of this bit of the action—a version that was denied at Japanese headquarters—the attackers were led into a trap where machine gunners, safe behind sand bag barricades, rained bullets on them.

The gunners, the Chinese said, caught the advancing Japanese from both flanks and from the front, and only a handful of survivors got to cover.

When the Japanese made their first assault on Chapei 11 days ago military observers were surprised by the fighting qualities displayed by the Chinese. They were surprised again by the tenacity displayed during the last 24 hours by the defenders of Shanghai.

New Spirit in Work.

The Chinese artillery as well as the infantry worked with a new spirit. Japanese headquarters in north Szechuen road received a terrific beating from the Chinese guns. Considerable damage was inflicted with the International Settlement in the vicinity of the headquarters.

The bombardment was so heavy that the men in the settlement police station, only a short distance from the Japanese headquarters, put up sand bags at doors and windows and sought safety in the basement. All the windows were broken and the ground about the station was pitted with shell holes.

Telephonic communications with the police station was established shortly after midnight.

"I don't know how much damage they've inflicted and I am not going out to investigate until morning," said the British sergeant in charge.

An attempt by the Japanese to fall the Chinese rear in Chapei was blocked by the British. Moving along Ranger road in the area assigned to British patrols, a Japanese attacking force attempted to pass a British "pillbox" blocking its way.

The British threw up a sand bag barricade, indicating they did not intend to drop back, and the Japanese halted. But the British were left in a tight spot, for on one side of them were the Chinese and on the other were the Japanese.

The Japanese co-ordinated their land and sea forces in their big push on the Woosung forts. The high point of this advance was the occupation by the Japanese assaulters of a part of Woosung village. This was accomplished by Japanese troops operating from the land side.

The bluejackets and soldiers totaled about 3,000. While no authentic figures on the Chinese strength in that sector has been made public, estimates put that about 1,000 were in the line.

The 1,000 did an efficient job. When the Japanese tried to extend their occupation of the village, the Chinese first stopped them and then pushed them back. The Japanese fell back to positions along the western bank of the Woosung creek. Between them and the forts that were their objective were the creek and Woosung village. For several hours the Japanese headquarters were placed in Chinese houses and other buildings.

Wait Reinforcements.

Within Woosung village not a civilian could be seen, but there was plenty of evidence that Chinese troops were there. Whenever a Japanese soldier showed himself machine guns sniped at him.

Meanwhile Japanese six-inch guns thundered away in another attempt to break down Chinese resistance in Chapei. Japanese headquarters had been set up in the office of the Shanghai-Woosung railway and troops had been placed in Chinese houses and other buildings.

general said, to co-operate with the police and to render assistance in maintaining order. He added that the situation in Hongkew, where the municipal council protested the Japanese were interfering with police functions, was unavoidable in a time of emergency.

Vice Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, who replaced Rear Admiral Koichi Shioyama's command in charge of the Japanese naval forces in the Shanghai area, arrived in Shanghai last night and immediately granted an interview to newspapermen aboard his flagship, the Izumo.

"The object of the Japanese navy is to protect the safety and lives of the Japanese in this country," he said.

"In view of the special conditions in Shanghai, we shall do our best to prevent further trouble and to settle the matters as quickly as possible in co-operation with the representatives of other countries."

After Admiral Nomura had read this statement, Rear Admiral Shioyama, acting as his spokesman, answered questions put by the correspondents. He reiterated that the Japanese operations would be limited to the area in which occupation was necessary to protect Japanese lives and property.

He declared the responsibility of the Chinese soldiers and the failure of their superior officers effectively to control anti-Japanese activities were the roots of the Shanghai trouble.

Atlanta Woman, 32, Jailed In $5,000 'Marriage Fraud'

B. A. Beyerink, of Miami, Fla., shown with some of the hundreds of letters he alleges he received from Mrs. Alma Autrey, of Atlanta, asking for loans which, he says, he made in the hope of marrying Mrs. Autrey and sharing in a "rich estate" the woman told him she was to inherit. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

Taken in custody late Monday afternoon, Mrs. Alma Autrey, 32, of 267 Techwood drive, was ordered held in bond of $1,000 when Detective W. D. McGhee preferred charges of disorderly conduct and cheating and swindling against her after hearing the story told by Beyerink, a stationary engineer of Miami, Fla., who alleged he had mailed the woman more than $5,000 on her promise to marry him.

Beyerink came to Atlanta Monday to see Mrs. Autrey. He later told officers he had, upon solicitation of the woman over a period of four years, sent her sums of $10 to $20, until the total was in the neighborhood of $5,000. When he visited her here, he said, it was with the intention of marrying her. He found, however, that she was living with her husband.

Detective McGhee saw Beyerink and Mrs. Autrey together Monday afternoon. He stopped the couple and questioned Mrs. Autrey. Beyerink told police also that Mrs. Autrey had promised to repay him much larger sums than he had lent her, when she received a "large estate" she was expecting to inherit.

The case is to be heard in record's court at 2:30 this afternoon.

'Wipe Out German Reparations,' Dorothy Thompson Urges in Talk

Germany is today, and has been for the past twelve years, undergoing an under-the-surface revolution, the outcome of which is yet undecided, according to the message brought to Atlanta Monday by Dorothy Thompson, (Mrs. Sinclair Lewis). She spoke at the Glenn Memorial Auditorium at Emory University as one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Student Lecturers Association.

Miss Thompson, herself a distinguished woman writer and newspaper correspondent, spent a number of years in Europe, chiefly in Germany, as representative of a group of leading American newspapers. She has interviewed the majority of the outstanding post-war figures in that country and has carefully studied the social, economic, financial and political developments of recent years.

She made known her conviction, last night, that nobody believes today that Germany will ever pay any more on her war reparations debt and clearly indicated her belief that such a course was the correct one. She pointed out that Germany has already paid four billions in reparations while France was only called on to pay one billion after her defeat in the Franco-Prussian war.

Debts Crippling World.

"The whole world is staggering under the load of debt that is crippling our entire economic system," said Miss Thompson. "What we ought to do is to wipe out a large proportion of these debts and start over with a clean slate. And the place to begin is with the reparations. Do you think for one moment that the United States, under any circumstances, could or would pay any other country six hundred millions a year—which is the sum Germany is supposed to pay annually?"

Referring to the economic crisis under which the world is staggering and which has gripped every nation that took part in the World War in turn, Miss Thompson asserted that all the principals in the conflict had in actuality "lost the war."

"Germany lost the war," she said; "England most certainly lost by the war."

In Sino-Jap Crisis

was badly damaged by Chinese shells.

British troops barricaded Ranger road and thwarted a Japanese attempt to get to the Chinese rear. The British remained in an uncomfortable position, with the Japanese on one side of them, and the Chinese on the other.

Military observers expected the Japanese to renew their assault on the Woosung forts today from positions on the west bank of the Woosung creek, to which they were forced back after they had succeeded in gaining a foothold in the village of Woosung.

Vice Admiral Nomura, replacing Rear Admiral Shioyama, who directed the original assault on Shanghai, arrived at the scene of operations on his flagship, the Izumo. He told foreign newspaper correspondents that the purpose of the Japanese navy was to protect the lives of Japanese nationals, and promised that the Japanese would do their best to settle the Shanghai conflict "as quickly as possible in co-operation with the representatives of other countries."

The Tokyo cabinet approved a special appropriation of $14,500,000 to pay for the activities of the army and navy in the Shanghai area and to cover certain small operations in Manchuria.

A spokesman for Japan said the Japanese proposal that neutral zones be established around the chief commercial cities of China should convince the powers that Japan "has no intention of attempting any measure of control in China proper except in concert with the other powers."

Diplomatic circles in Washington interpreted the neutral zone proposal as little short of a dismemberment of China, and its partition among foreign powers. Ambassador Debutch of Japan called at the state department and subsequently said he had not received instructions from his government to advance the suggestion.

Nine hundred refugees from the Shanghai section of Shanghai arrived in Nanking yesterday. They were put aboard trains for the north. Officials hoped that they would be absorbed in various towns.

A detachment of Japanese soldiers in Tientsin occupied a section of the old native city after disarming their Chinese military police.

The Chinese mayor of Tientsin signed an agreement to keep order in the area—he said he signed it under duress—and the Japanese troops were withdrawn.

rogue whose speeches inflamed ignorant hearers, but which, when read over quietly afterwards, were found to really mean nothing. She described his anti-Semitic views as really a shrewd attack on bankers generally, and said that condemnation of those to whom people owe money is always popular.

She attributed much of Hitler's popularity to the rise in power of the national socialist party, composed chiefly of the working classes who, in Germany, are thoroughly unionized and who have been able, since the birth of the German republic, to put through many of the socialistic laws. This has resulted, she said, in wiping out of existence "the middle class," leading all to one great proletariat. "The middle class," she said, still exists as a habit of thought and as such is jealous of the rise of the working classes.

Hitlerism in U. S. Viewed.

"Perhaps, some day—perhaps sooner than we expect," she said, "such a man as Hitler will rise in the United States, at the head of such a party. If he does his followers will be composed of the discontented 'white collar workers'—those making about $3,000 a year and struggling to meet the payments on the refrigerator and the family car. They will be joined by the unorganized unemployed and by the farmers as a whole."

Miss Thompson criticized articles on Germany written by Garec Garrett and said that he failed to understand and because he ignored the historic background of that country. She said that the outcome of present conditions in Germany may be a military dictatorship, or a fascist dictatorship or, possibly, a soviet republic. If the latter, she said, it will be very different from that in Russia, both by reason of the different temperament of the German people and because they have profited by witnessing the advantages and the failures of the Russian experiment.

TROUBLED ALL LIFE WITH CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Real Relief

If you are subject to headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness and other effects that so often result from constipation, read Mrs. Turner's voluntary letter.

"For the past six months I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and cannot praise it too highly.

"Am fifty years of age. All my life have been troubled with constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has not only helped me, but has cured me.

"I thought I couldn't like the taste of bran, but Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious."—Mrs. C. J. Turner, 507 Hanover Street, Fall River, Mass.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

DEMOCRATS ARGUE FOR RELIEF BILL

Administration Confident of Ability To Defeat Both Measures.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Confident they can beat proposals for direct federal aid to the jobless, republican leaders listened quietly today to criticism of the $375,000,000 La Follette-Costigan bill and praise of the $750,000,000 democratic substitute.

Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, said the provisions of the $375,000,000 measure calling for its distribution by a federal board would contribute to bureaucracy and would send "snoopers" into the homes of citizens.

Meanwhile another relief measure—the proposal to distribute 40,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat to the needy—was stranded in the house.

It had already passed the senate but the house agriculture committee voted against it, 14 to 9, Chairman Jones, of the committee, indicating that some of his group felt the wheat should be bought from the farmers.

The sponsors of the direct aid bill, Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, and Costigan, democrat, Colorado, took all of last week in urging passage of their measure and the opposition expressed itself for the first time in the words of Senator Black.

He said "the strong assistance of the federal government is needed" in relief efforts but advocated the bill sponsored by democratic leaders calling for $375,000,000 for loans to states for relief and an equal sum for road construction.

A vote on both relief bills is expected about the middle of the week and meantime several new substitute measures are being considered. There has been some discussion of a compromise to a $450,000,000 relief bill.

Black contended the democratic bill, of which he is co-author, would not only provide relief, but through its road funds would give work to more than 1,000,000 men for over a month.

He centered his attack on provisions of the La Follette-Costigan measure for supervision of the work and expenditures by a federal board and the chief of the children's bureau.

This organization, he said, "would turn the last vestige of state control over the home to a bureau at Washington."

Black said the $375,000,000 bill had no limitation on the amount that could be used for administration and asserted money "supposed to be used to feed the hungry would go to those in Washington hungry for office."

The measure also would permit all funds to be withheld from a state, he said.

Opposing Counsel Confer

On the whim of a bureau chief in Washington.

Black read a letter from Chairman Stearns, of the Birmingham Community Chest, saying no direct federal charity was needed, but urging a government appropriation for roads.

President Green, of the American Federation of Labor, announced today that officers of the federation representing approximately 5,000,000 workmen and women would meet tomorrow to consider the relief legislation now before congress and other measures.

During hearings on the La Follette-Costigan bill, the federation strongly expressed itself as favoring direct federal aid, asserting it was badly needed.

Meanwhile on the house side Representative Lovette, republican, Tennessee, a member of the labor subcommittee that has been conducting hearings on the La Follette-Costigan measure, introduced a bill to set up a $375,000,000 relief fund.

A borrowed liquor car driven by Poole and occupied by Gaines and a car driven by E. D. Rivers Jr. of Lakeland, in which two of young Rivers' passengers, Miss Patterson, of Alamo, and Joe Pafford, of Lakeland, were killed.

Judge Smith's courtroom was crowded all day today, despite the fact that the court was given over to hearing motions and other routine business. Two hours before the judge arrived every seat was taken.

Twenty Cook county authorities still are considering moving the Poole trial to a tobacco warehouse, which will accommodate 3,000 persons as contrasted with the 300 seats in the regular courtroom. Decision on the scene of the trial is to be made by Judge Smith in the morning and probably will depend upon the number of persons present or seeking admittance when the case is formally called.

The tobacco warehouse is only two blocks away from the courthouse. It does not contain a jury room, and it is said this fact is the only reason why it was not set as the scene without consulting the judge.

Included in the throngs here today were scores of friends and relatives of Miss Patterson from Alamo and Valdosta, where she was a student at the Georgia State College for Women, friends and relatives of Pafford and young Rivers from Lakeland. All business appears to have ceased in Adel, everyone apparently being intent on witnessing the proceedings, if possible.

Contrary to the anticipated belief there appears to be little prejudice in the case, most of the residents of this county declaring themselves open-minded. However, because a number of the prospective jurors are expected to disqualify themselves, the extra panel of 50 names was drawn this afternoon and summons served on those drawn.

Confer With Attorneys. Poole and Gaines spent today in conference with their attorneys. They were not removed from the Lowndes county jail at Valdosta, where they have been held since the fatal accident four weeks ago, but were dressed prepared for court and the jailer had for 30 years with his father, Jacob Eisman, in the clothing business, and for 12 years had been president of Eisman's prior to its liquidation.

The Eisman store was one of the pioneers of Atlanta and was a contemporary of Rich's, having been opened soon after the Civil War.

"We are glad indeed to enlist Mr. Eisman in the company of Atlantans serving Atlanta and the south under the Rich banner," Mr. Rich said in announcing the appointment. "We consider it an honor to have the Eisman tradition carried on through our larger organization."

Veterans To Meet.

All colored veterans are invited to attend the regular meeting of the Disabled Colored Veterans' Post of Atlanta, to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in headquarters, room 222, of the Herndon building, 239 Auburn avenue. Carl Magill, commander, will preside.

The Poole defense is composed of William Schley Howard, W. Paul Carpenter and H. A. Allen, of Atlanta; E. K. Wilcox, of Valdosta, and Judge John Knight, of Nashville.

Solicitor-General Morgan is to be assisted in the prosecution by former Senator E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland, father of the driver of the car which collided with Poole's, and Homer Nelson and Elmer Jackson, of Adel. All of the members of Poole's defense staff were present at the conference today except Mr. Allen, who was detained in Atlanta. He is expected tomorrow morning. Chief Poole also is here to attend the trial.

Mr. Howard, who will direct the defense, had this to say after the conference and the final going over of the evidence to be offered on behalf of young Poole:

"This case is not as one-sided as some people have tried to make the public think. There will be plenty shown to convince everyone that it is a two-sided question and there is grave doubt as to who was at fault in the accident."

CRISP ASKS NATION TO BALANCE BUDGET

House Ways and Means Committee Prepares To Draft Billion Tax Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A grave appeal to the nation for willing sacrifices in the interest of balancing the federal budget was made today as the house ways and means committee prepared to begin drafting a $1,000,000,000 tax bill.

Describing the situation as serious, Acting Chairman Crisp said that in his judgment, "the foundation stone upon which economic recovery is based is a balanced budget." He added:

"If this is not accomplished the United States securities, all other securities and property of every description will further be greatly depreciated in value and economic chaos is inevitable. Without a balanced budget all temporary relief measures passed by this congress will be futile."

The ways and means committee is determined to commence work on drafting the new revenue act at the earliest possible moment.

"If the credit of the United States is maintained and the budget is balanced additional taxes to the amount of $1,000,000,000 must be raised," the Georgian said. "Congress is confronted with the most unpleasant duty for no one likes to be taxed. I know the ways and means committee will be actuated by patriotism and place the good of their country above their personal, political welfare. I do hope the patriotic American in this present emergency will be willing to undergo sacrifices for the common good of the people."

KING'S STATUS HIT BY GEORGIA CONVICT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Alvin O. King's status as governor of Louisiana was attacked today in criminal district court in the case of William D. Eden, alias Clyde McDonald, escaped convict from Fulton county, Georgia, who is fighting extradition.

When Eden faced Judge Frank T. Echenbush in his fight to prevent being sent back to the Fulton county prison, his attorney presented an objection to the extradition warrant signed by Alvin O. King as governor on the ground that King is not legally the governor of Louisiana.

To this Judge Echenbush replied, in overruling the objection, that "such an attack cannot be made collaterally on Mr. King's title to the office of the governor of Louisiana," and for the further reason that "the court has to at least recognize Mr. King as governor de facto."

is prominent in American Legion circles. A close personal and political friend of Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., Kennedy was known during the last session of the legislature as one of the administration's "Four Horsemen."

Addition of several other new names Monday to the prospective list of candidates for the unexpired term pointed to a free-for-all in the old sixth.

Friends in Atlanta of Judge J. J. Flynt, of Griffin, were predicting that he would be one of the candidates, and Charles D. Jordan, of Monticello, widely known Georgia druggist, was listed among the probable entries by state capital observers. Others reported considering entering the race were W. Carlton Mobley, who was Representative Rutherford's secretary; Mrs. A. F. McGhee, Macon woman, and Judge Charles L. Bartlett.

Judge Flynt is a former member of the general assembly, having served as president of the senate in 1908. Jordan has been president of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association for a number of terms and, in that capacity, has been associated with legislation affecting drug interests. He was the principal speaker last year at the annual dinner of the Deatur Chamber of Commerce.

John T. Boileau, secretary of the state senate, Monday night had not reached a decision as to his possible candidacy, it was said.

As other entries were being forecast Monday, Mrs. W. O. Kinney, of Macon, who entered the race Saturday, was in Atlanta conferring with Cam Dorsey, chairman of the democratic victory campaign committee.

3---That the cost to the City of Atlanta is 6 cents an hour for every child in school?

CORONER PROBES THRELKELD DEATH

Verdict Blames "Person or Persons Unknown."
Police Seek Pistol.

A verdict that he had died as the result of a bullet wound "inflicted by a person or persons unknown" was returned Monday afternoon in the death of Hugh L. Threlkeld, 39, of 872 Boulevard, S. E., who was found dying Saturday night in the middle of Piedmont avenue, near the entrance to Piedmont Park.

A few hours prior to the inquest detectives assigned to the case were informed by a woman living about a mile away from where Threlkeld's unconscious form was found that the slain man was the same person who had attempted to force an entrance into her apartment early Saturday night. The woman said she had fired a shot at the intruder.

In a dying condition, Threlkeld was found in the middle of the 1300 block of Piedmont avenue shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday night. Death occurred a few minutes before midnight at Grady hospital where the victim, shot in the back of the head, had been taken. In his clothing officers found a black mask, 13 bullets of .38 caliber, a pair of wire clippers, a cap, in addition to a felt hat he wore, and a partly filled bottle of whisky.

Identification was made Sunday by members of Threlkeld's family, who told police he had not been out of his home more than twice at night during the last six months. Relatives insisted the articles found had been "planted."

Mrs. R. L. Dodd, who lives at 373 Piedmont avenue, informed detectives that she had fired "to scare" a man who tried to force his way into her apartment early Saturday night. Mrs. Dodd, detectives said, viewed the body of Threlkeld and identified it as that of the man who had tried to enter her apartment.

Detectives Monday bent their efforts toward recovery of a .38 caliber revolver believed to be involved. V. J. Threlkeld, a brother of the slain man, admitted to officers that his revolver, a .38 caliber gun, was missing from his home.

Funeral services for Threlkeld will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Awtry and Lowndes, the Rev. S. A. Cowan and Rev. S. F. Lowe officiating. Interment will be in West View. Surviving are four brothers, Earl C. F. M., V. J. and G. R. Threlkeld, and a sister, Mrs. W. D. Whidby, all of Atlanta.

Death a Mystery

N. Y. LIFE WILL PAY $63,000,000 DIVIDENDS

The New York Life Insurance Company, one of the oldest and largest life insurance companies in the world, which operates on the purely mutual plan, has announced that it has set aside for dividends payable to policyholders in the year 1932 the sum of $63,000,000.

Its annual statement for 1931 shows that it paid to living policyholders in that year the sum of $156,096,109.08 in dividends, matured endowments, annuities and surrender values. These payments to living policyholders amounted to about two-thirds of the total of $227,583,935.30 paid to policyholders and beneficiaries. Death claims paid during the year amounted to $71,487,826.31.

The company's financial strength is evidenced by the fact that its assets exceed its liabilities by over $110,000,000. Its investments, which must be made as prescribed by law, are chiefly in a widely diversified list of first mortgages on real estate, and bonds of the United States, states, counties and cities, railroads, public utilities and industries. The statement, which is published in this paper, shows the percentages of each type of investment to the total assets.

CITIZENSHIP MEET TO OPEN TONIGHT

Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross
Will Speak Before
Emory Gathering.

Prominent political economists, laymen and others interested in current situations involving the United States and other nations will assemble at 8 o'clock tonight at the Glenn Memorial auditorium on the campus of Emory University to hear Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, vice chairman of the democratic national committee, deliver an address opening the fifth institute of citizenship sponsored by Emory.

The sessions, which will be continued through Friday night, with open and round-table discussions in the mornings and afternoons, are open to the public. The fifth annual meeting of the institute will be called to order tonight by Dr. Theodore H. Jacks, vice president of Emory, who will preside. Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory, will introduce Mrs. Ross.

During the remaining sessions of the conference the public will be given opportunity to hear some of the foremost students of international politics. Among those to lecture are Dr. Herbert Kraus, professor of international law and diplomacy of the University of Gottingen, at Gottingen, Germany; Dr. Calvin Hoover, of Duke University; Dr. Charles Pergler, formerly secretary to President McArthur, of Czechoslovakia; Dr. Robert Rankin, of Duke; Dr. E. H. Johnson, of Emory, and Dr. H. J. Pearce Jr., of Brenau College.

In addition to delivering the opening address tonight, Mrs. Ross is scheduled to direct a round-table discussion of political subjects at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. During her visit in Atlanta the former governor of Wyoming will be honored by democratic party leaders of Georgia. At noon Thursday approximately 200 prominent democrats, headed by Governor Richard Russell and Mrs. Edgar Alexander, Georgia national committeewoman, will attend a luncheon at the Piedmont Driving Club in honor of the vice chairman of the national party committee.

Pipeline Company To Be Investigated

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—(AP)—United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson today started an investigation of the Missouri-Kansas Pipeline Company with a view to possible grand jury action against its officials. Authority for the investigation was received from Washington after the attorney-general's office had studied a preliminary report on the company prepared by postal inspectors.

Frank P. Parish was one of the original incorporators of the pipeline company, in 1928, when it was organized in Delaware with $1,000,000 in capital divided into 200,000 shares of $5 par. The other incorporators were S. J. Madden and C. Stewart Shipper.

In 1929 the authorized capital stock was increased to 700,000 shares and in 1930 the capital structure was again changed, the stock issue being increased to 5,000,000 shares of $5 par common stock and 5,000,000 shares $1 par Class B stock.

The common stock of the pipeline sold at $42 a share in 1929. It closed today on the Chicago Stock Exchange at $1.20 a share.

Mighty Mississippi Above Flood Stage

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Faced with what may become the most serious high-water emergency since the disastrous floods of 1927, the federal government today sounded a call to arms throughout the Mississippi valley.

The mighty Mississippi river continued to rise slowly above flood stage along a 700-mile front from Cairo to Natchez, and backwater from the main stem and its tributaries rolled over new acreage in the inundated lowlands.

The gauge at Memphis today registered 36.4 feet, representing a rise of three-tenths of a foot. Flood stage is 35 feet. A further rise was predicted.

WAGE CUT TO AID BUSINESS—POLARD

That the settlement of the railway wage dispute should hasten the general economic revival, is the belief of President H. D. Pollard, of the Central of Georgia railroad. Discussing the voluntary acceptance of a 10 per cent wage cut by railway employees, Mr. Pollard said in a statement issued in Savannah:

"It ends uncertainty, strengthens railway credit, and revives the tremendous purchasing power of the railroads, all of which should hasten a general economic revival. Railway officers and employees have now unanimously taken a reduction in compensation, with the hope of stabilizing employment and stimulating business, and thereby contributing to the common good."

Mr. Pollard pays tribute to the spirit in which railway labor and railway management conducted the negotiations, in which he was one of the nine railroad presidents representing the carriers.

Stronger than He Was at Twenty

FIFTY-FIVE years old, and still going strong!

Do you want the secret of such vitality? It isn't what you eat, or any tonic you take. It's something anyone can do—something you can start today and see results in a week! All you do is give your vital organs the right stimulus.

A famous doctor discovered the way to stimulate a sluggish system to new energy. It brings fresh vigor to every organ. Being a physician's prescription, it's quite harmless. Tell your druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Get the benefit of its fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and that pure pepsin. Get that lazy liver to work, those stagnant bowels into action. Get rid of waste matter that is slow poison so long as it is permitted to remain in the system.

The new energy men and women feel before one bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin has been used up is proof of how much the system needs this help.

Get a bottle of this delicious syrup and let it end that constant worry about the condition of the bowels. Spare the children those bilious days that make them miserable. Save your household from the use of cathartics which lead to chronic constipation. And guard against auto-intoxication as you grow older.

RUSSELL DENIES PLEA FOR 'SLICK' JOHNSON

Albany Man Scheduled To Die in Chair at Milledgeville Today.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 8.—(P)—With the hope of executive clemency gone, Major (Slick) Johnson waited in the death cell at the prison farm here Monday night for electrocution Tuesday for the murder of his brother-in-law, Tobe Roberts.

Governor Russell announced in Atlanta Monday that he saw no reason for further executive action in the case. A plea on behalf of his brother was made to one of the governor's secretaries last week by Mrs. Roberts.

One respite had been granted Johnson to allow time for filing of an extraordinary motion for new trial, but at the expiration of the respite no such motion had been filed, and he was rescheduled.

Johnson shot Roberts to death at Albany the night of February 26, 1931. He claimed self-defense, but Mrs. Roberts in testimony at the trial denied his story. Other testimony was similarly conflicting.

A self-defense plea freed Johnson of charges in the slaying of Walter Sills at Albany in 1924. Again in 1929 he was arrested in connection with a slaying, but was freed after several months when police found themselves unable to establish the identity of the killer.

THE EVENT OF THE YEAR

Bigger and Better Than Ever

Jaffee Wins 10,000 Meters, Giving United States Clean Sweep

EVENT IS ADDED TO 5,000 DASH; IS KEEN CLIMAX

Duplicates Feat of Jack Shea, Who Won Two Races.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Driving through his favorite element, blinding snow, Irving Jaffee, New York youngster, today won the 10,000-meter Olympic skating championship, giving the United States a clean sweep of all four events on the Olympic speed skating program.

Jaffee added the 10,000-meter title, subject of the most heated controversy of the games, to his 5,000-meter crown with a burst of speed through the home stretch that brought him to the finish about three yards ahead of Ivar Ballangrud, Norwegian champion.

Frank Stack, of Finland, was third and Eddie Wedge, of Detroit, fourth. The time was 19 minutes 13.6 seconds.

Jaffee's feat duplicated that of Jack Shea, who triumphed in both the 500 and 1,500-meter championship finals to give the United States the greatest team conquest in the entire history of the Olympics. No other nation ever before has won all four of the speed skating championships.

COLLAPSES.—Behind Wedge, who collapsed as he crossed the finish line, came Valentine Bialis, of Utica, N. Y., in fifth place. Bernt Evensen, another Norwegian ace, was sixth with Alex Hurd, of Canada, seventh, and Ed Schroeder, of Chicago, who fell on the last turn, eighth and last.

Jaffee's conquest speeded up a thrilling climax to a day as variable as the officials in charge of the skating. A new storm this morning caused postponement of the two-man relay events. Then it turned warm and rained, causing postponement of the hockey match between the United States and Poland.

But before speed skating races began, it turned cold again and just before the start of the 10,000-meter finals another blizzard began.

The 10,000-meter trials, which all led to a rupture of the games last Friday, were skated over on Saturday because of the bitter protest of the European nations entered in the same event.

The same eight men who raced today qualified in both the protested heats and the final official heats.

The ice was spongy from the snow and a rising wind turned bitterly cold as the eight finalists set out on the 6.2-mile journey. Each took turns at leading the pack in accordance with an agreement reached before the race and there was little of a contest until the field came into the final lap.

Jaffee, laying back up to that point, sprinted suddenly into the lead three-quarters of a lap from home and held off the charge of Ballangrud as they sped into the home stretch. Jaffee had a 4-yard lead before he charged for the finish line and Ballangrud, despite a game bid, could cut but a yard from that.

Jaffee dove across the finish line and sailed on his chest about 20 yards up the course. He was picked up and carried to the throne to receive his second Olympic crown and join Shea as the greatest of the United States Olympic skaters.

CANADA WINS ONE.—Jean Wilson, Canadian girl, won the women's final in the 500-meter dash, staged shortly after the 10,000-meter men's final. None of the women's races are a part of the official program. Only Canada and the United States are entered.

Elizabeth DuBois, of Evanston, Ill., finished a close second, inches behind the Canadian girl, while Kit Klein, of Buffalo, an equally close third. Lola Brooks-Potter, of Canada, was fourth, and Elsie Muller McLave, of Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., fifth and last. The time, 68 seconds, was fast considering the spongy ice.

TEAMMATE TELLS OF THORPE'S MIGHT

Massillon and Youngstown were other members.

Knut Rockne played end for a time on the Canton Bulldogs. Thorpe, Kallio and Gardner were noted Carlisle athletes on the same team.

"He was the hardest man to tackle I ever saw . . . when hit, he simply brought his knees up and sent the tackler sprawling," said Blythe, speaking of Jim Thorpe. Blythe also played back in the day when Charlie Brickley of Harvard fame was the ace drop kicker.

"He bent very low over the ball, brought his foot up quickly and frequently his dropkicks would travel 60 yards to the goal posts," said Blythe. Once, Blythe saw Brickley kick off in a game and boot the ball clear out of the field and over the top of a near-by house.

Blythe knew Thorpe and the other giants at their peak. But they came too late to reap the rich harvest of the pro gridiron and the grappling ring.

Ivy Wingo, former Cracker and big league catcher, has begun getting in shape here, preparatory to a comeback with some club this summer. Wingo, incidentally, has been mentioned as a possible coach for the Atlanta club of this season. He and Roy Carlyle came over from Norcross, Ga., yesterday to work out at Daily's gymnasium.

Murray (Red) Howell, who gets a chance in Brooklyn's outfield, will start getting off some excess poundage this week.

Mule Hans and Wally Gilbert, major league stars who have been at Hot Springs, Ark., are said to be en route to Atlanta now, where they will do some preliminary work.

Znoski Faces Test In Nestor Tonight

Steve Znoski, sometimes called the Pulverizing Pole, is ready for his two-hour bout with Nick Nestor, the Terrible Greek, tonight at the city auditorium. The card will get under way at 8:15.

He wants to pulverize Nick, who will be making his debut before Atlanta wrestling fans.

In other parts Nestor has an established reputation as a headliner, but he will have to prove his ability to Atlanta's fans in general and Znoski in particular.

Nestor earned his nickname of the "Terrible" because of his rough, brutal tactics in the ring. He thinks nothing of clutching an opponent and attempting to twist him into pretzel-shape.

The fact of the match being his first appearance here serves as a spur to Nestor's ambition to win, but Znoski has an entirely different reason. Take a look.

Somebody broke into Steve's hotel room and rifled his trousers of $300 and he is going to put on a $400 show for the auditorium audience. He avows that he is going to make Nestor wish he had never picked Atlanta to work in and him to work against.

Matchmaker Henry Weber likes Nestor, and points to a long string of triumphs stretched behind the big Greek. "He is a good wrestler," declares Weber, "and I should not be surprised if he beat Znoski."

In the semi-windup, a one-hour bout, "Blue Sun" Jennings, the Cherokee Indian, meets John Katon, the Ukrainian. Sun is a favorite here and never fails to put on an interesting and highly entertaining show. In Katon, however, he faces a formidable foe.

Tickets are on sale at Davidson-Pax Company and the Piedmont Hatters and can be secured until 6 o'clock this afternoon.

PURDY WINNER IN FINAL MATCH OF CUE TOURNEY

Atlantan Retains South-eastern Billiard Title, Beating Lovejoy, 50-49.

By Roy White.

Harry Purdy, veteran Atlanta billiard player, won his second successive southeastern three-cushion amateur billiard championship with a spectacular 50-to-49 victory over Paul Lovejoy, Atlanta rival, Monday night at the Elks' Club before a packed house.

It was one of the greatest finishes in the history of tournament billiards in Atlanta and a fitting climax to the third annual event, in which both players finished in a tie Saturday night with five wins and one loss.

There was plenty of suspense in the closing minutes of play, as Lovejoy came from behind to tie the score and then forge one billiard ahead with only one to go for the title. He missed three difficult chances by the smallest of margins, either of which would have given him the title and the handsome trophy.

Purdy likewise missed two difficult chances by hairwidths. He then won the title with a five-cushioned shot in a corner that was perfectly played.

After 10 innings in which play was extremely close, Purdy began to pull away from Lovejoy and was leading 33 to 18 at the 40th inning. Purdy continued to hold his lead of 15 billiards through the 50th inning but from then on Lovejoy gradually cut the margin. At the 60th inning, due to a high run of seven, Lovejoy had cut the margin to seven and was only five down at the 70th. In the 80th inning Lovejoy tied the score at 45-45 and went into the lead on the next play, with one to go, but barely missed a hard try that would have won the title. After three scoreless innings Purdy tied the score at 49-49 with one to go in the 84th and won out in the 85th inning.

Lovejoy had a high run of seven, against four for Purdy. Lovejoy made six billiards in four consecutive innings, while Purdy had five consecutive scores that totaled nine billiards.

Toppino Runs Third in Race

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 8.—(UP)—Frank Gleason, of Villanova College, won the 70-yard handicap dash tonight at the Knights of Columbus games. His time was 7.4 seconds.

The event featured Emmet Toppino, flyer from Loyola College, New Orleans, who had conceded 10-foot handicap to Gleason. Toppino finished third, at least a yard behind Bernard Kroeser, of New York University, who had a handicap of four feet. Toppino started from scratch.

Manhattan College won the omnium college relay, with Holy Cross second and Fordham University third. J. Carey ran anchor for Manhattan and held a lead of five yards against McCafferty, crack runner for Holy Cross. W. McCough, J. Seaman and J. Borsman ran the other three legs for Manhattan. The time was 3:26.4.

Richard Womer, of Villanova College, won the first 1,000-yard handicap race with a handicap of 30 yards. His time was 2:15.8. Sam Motherer, of N. Y. U., was second and Frank McKenna, of Manhattan College, running unattached, was third.

Frank Nordell, of N. Y. U., starting from scratch, won the second 1,000-yard handicap race. Leo Motherer, of N. Y. U., was second, and Louis Buns, of Villanova College, third. The time was 2:16.4.

Auburn Downs L. S. U., 48-34

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Smooth ball passing and handling gave Auburn's basketball team a 48-to-34 victory tonight over Louisiana State University. Although Auburn got off to a good start, the Louisiana States boys dogged them steadily in the first period. In the second half, however, better playing put Auburn out in front by a clear-cut margin.

The voluntary acceptance of a 10 per cent wage cut by railway employees, effective February 1st for a period of one year, should have a direct and important influence upon business. It ends uncertainty, strengthens railway credit, and revives the tremendous purchasing power of the railroads, all of which should hasten a general economic revival.

The negotiations between railway management and railway labor were conducted amicably, without animosity, and with a spirit of understanding by each of the other's problems and point of view.

Railway officers and employees have now unanimously taken a reduction in compensation, with the hope of stabilizing employment, strengthening the railway industry, stimulating business, and thereby contributing to the common good.

This action, it is hoped, will call forth for the railroads the support it merits from the general public, in the form of patronage, co-operation and good-will.

Public opinion manifested in equitable taxation and in fair regulation of all forms of transportation, will assure a continuance of satisfactory railway service, with all that that means to the country.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Georgia To Play Clemson Tonight

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 8.—Georgia's Bulldogs will play the Clemson Tigers here Tuesday night in a return engagement and then catch a train for Florida Wednesday for three games in the sunshine state.

Following their 25-15 victory over Georgia Tech here Saturday night, the Bulldogs will attempt to go a notch higher in the conference pre-tournament battle when they meet the Tigers on the home court. It will be the second game of the season with the Bulldogs from South Carolina, the Bulldogs having annexed the first game in Clemson last Tuesday night.

So far the Bulldogs are in the second division of the conference standing with a total of three games won as against two lost. Losses to Georgia Tech and Tennessee are balanced with victories over Tennessee, Tech and Clemson. However, the Bulldogs have defeated Mercer twice and the University of Chattanooga three times in non-conference games.

Following the Clemson engagement, the Bulldogs will leave Wednesday for Deland, Fla., where they will play Stetson University Thursday night. Two games with the University of Florida will follow Friday and Saturday night.

Freshman Coach Johnny Broadnax's Bulldogs will play the Clemson Cubes in a preliminary game. The Broadnax-coached team lost to the Cubes in Clemson last week.

How Do Women in the Movies Manage?

Filming a picture means weeks of work without a pause. The star can't stop because she is "indisposed!" Monthly sickness does not excuse her. If you know some woman who is in pictures, she will tell you how Hollywood women manage on days they menstruate. Try to find even an "extra" girl who doesn't carry Midol with her!

Midol was a marvelous discovery. It isn't harmful. It isn't a narcotic. But it acts in seven minutes—ends all menstrual pain or discomfort for hours at a stretch! Just ask for Midol at any drug store.

Mrs. Alston Attends Luncheon Today In Washington, D.C.

He was recently in Atlanta, and spoke at the banquet which celebrated the 25th anniversary of the diocese of Atlanta.

Since its definite inception in 1893, when congress granted a charter providing authority for the erection in the District of Columbia of a cathedral and institutions of learning for the promotion of religion and education and charity, the inspiring significance of Washington cathedral has been recognized by American men and women in every part of the country. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Connolly Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mrs. Connolly was formerly Miss Cornelia Rice, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Rice and the late Mr. Rice. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. John T. Connolly, mother of Arthur Connolly, were both present Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Connolly were married February 1, 1907, at the Immaculate Conception church on Hunter street by Father Smith. Their three children are Doris, John and Joseph Connolly.

A cloth of handsome lace over blue satin covered the table, which was centered by pink roses in a silver basket. Silver candelsticks held unshaded blue tapers tied with pink tulle bows.

Mrs. Ellen Ryan, aunt of Mr. Connolly, returned from a visit to New Orleans, La., to be present Sunday afternoon and to present this treasured heirloom to Mr. and Mrs. Connolly on their anniversary.

Mrs. Dunn Tendered Presidency Of Woman's Club for 1932-33

Mrs. William P. Dunn was invited to accept the presidency for another year of the Atlanta Woman's Club, her present term of office scheduled to expire in May, but so successful has been her administration and so popular is Mrs. Dunn that she is regarded as the logical woman to head the club another term. This action followed the election of the nominating committee at the meeting held yesterday at the club when Mrs. A. U. Whitehead, recording secretary, expressed the hearty appreciation and loyalty of the entire organization for Mrs. Dunn. She echoed the sentiment of the membership in that no other candidate is considered by the nominating committee for the office of president, which is a great tribute to Mrs. Dunn's ability. In a speech of acceptance of this office for 1932-33, Mrs. Dunn expressed her appreciation of the honor bestowed upon her by the membership.

Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore was elected chairman of the nominating committee of the Atlanta Woman's Club, and serving with her will be Mesdames U. T. Koch, Albert Dunn, Frederick Rice and Clifford Collins with Mrs. Joseph P. Billups named as alternate.

Van Paassen Speaks To Jewish Women

The Council of Jewish Women meets Monday afternoon, February 15, at 3 o'clock, at the temple house on Peachtree road, when one of the outstanding programs of the year will be given. To his analysis of the situation in various countries he brings a wealth of personal experience as a background for his rare ability to extract the human interest from complicated diplomatic situations.

"Weren't you shocked at Dorothy?"

"My dear, I simply couldn't believe it!"

The girl they talked about was charming, but—

A HOUSE PARTY—charming girls, Dorothy especially. And yet...

"Weren't you shocked at Dorothy?" they whispered... "Why does she wear her underthings a second day? Everybody perspires a little and it's so easy to offend."

HOW can she take such chances with personal daintiness? Underthings constantly absorb perspiration acids and odors. These become noticeable so soon. Fresh lingerie each day is actually more important than the daily bath.

It is so easy to wear fresh things every day! For Lux is made to remove perspiration acids and odors completely, yet saves colors and fabrics, keeps them like new. And it takes only four minutes or less.

Follow this dainty habit—Lux your underthings and stockings after every wearing. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

A young correspondent writes to ask how she may make people who now dislike her, like her. It can be done, if one is willing to pay the price. Want it Charles Lamb who said that he never disliked anyone he really knew, no matter what his preconceived prejudices might have been? We have all had experience of the truth of his contention. A closer acquaintance with a person we have disliked almost invariably results in a change of the attitude. The very quality of mind or heart with which we have quarreled in the acquaintance often appears in a totally different light when we inspect it at close quarters. It not infrequently happens that we come to approve in the friend the trait that we have condemned in the acquaintance.

But to form a closer acquaintance with the person that dislikes you is a real task and requires diplomacy. There are not many people in this world that can resist those that offer them approval and commendation any more than snow can resist the rays of the warm sun. A word of approbation spoken, a compliment paid, sympathy shown at the right time, has a magical effect upon a frail human being. Turn the situation around if you wish to see in a clear light. Consider your own experience. Haven't you been antagonistic in your attitude to some individual and had that one say a word to you that made you think, after all, your antagonism was without justification? Haven't you disliked someone and had that one do a kindness that made you feel positively friendly toward him? I think so.

Let's try a new plan with the people who dislike us and those we dislike. Make a mental note of them, eliminate prejudices and approach them with an open mind. If there is a sensitive one among the number, handle him or her very gently. If there is a reserved one, respect his or her privacy. If there is an egotist among the number, let your sentences begin with "you" and end with "I," instead of beginning with "I" and ending with "me." If there is a high tempered one among the number, never get in an argument with that one.

The whole secret of getting on with people in this world lies in giving them what they want. If you keep your wits about you it is not hard to determine what that is. We all go about striking our keynote, unconsciously, perhaps, but loud enough for others to detect it. A person's conversation is like a symphonic composition. There is a theme, a melodic line that underlies all that is said and done. If you listen carefully you may discern it sometimes clear, sometimes very faint, sometimes modified to fit the occasion, sometimes lost in variation, but always returning again to remind us what that person has in mind, what he wants of life. You don't have to supply the whole demand. You simply have to contribute your share to it. Sometimes that share is only sympathy and understanding, sometimes it is affection, sometimes it is approbation felt and expressed. Each of us calls to some other for a contribution and each of us should, in turn, make one.

Rose Garden Club Hears Talk on "Iris."

Rose Garden Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. L. C. McKinney on Peachtree road, with Mrs. Philip M. Graves as co-hostess. Mrs. Bolling Samssett, of Athens, Ga., gave an instructive talk on "Iris." Plans were discussed for co-operation with the Peachtree Garden Club in entertaining members of the Garden Club of America at the meeting to be held here in April. Over 50 per cent of the members pledged the use of their cars to the transportation committee.

To aid in the clean-up work being sponsored by the Peachtree Garden Club, work will be done in the vicinity of Brookhaven Country Club, so that it will present a pleasant look to the visitors on their trips to the club and to the rock garden of Mrs. George W. Rowbotham, a member of the Rose Garden Club.

A resolution was adopted to co-operate with the Garden Club of Georgia in its attempt to beautify the roadways of Georgia. A donation was made to the Garden Club of Georgia in the amount of $10.00. Some of the members of the survey now being made by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lawton. The club voted to become an associate member of the women's board of Hillside Cottages, at the invitation extended by Mrs. Harrison Hines, chairman of membership. The grounds surrounding the Hillside cottage are maintained by the Rose Garden Club, and the shrubbery planting represents their efforts to improve the appearance of the surroundings for the children of the four homes, for an attractive environment in childhood does much to develop a beautiful character.

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

BY MRS. HENRY W. GRADY JR.

When Miss Helen Riley, director of the Music Center in Atlanta, agreed to conduct a music appreciation course for the members of the Junior League, she paid our organization a very high compliment. Miss Riley, as we all know, was sent here by the Juilliard Foundation of New York in the interest of musical education and has served successfully in the capacity of director for three years. Before coming to Atlanta she studied with the Foundation for five years and also was a pupil of an accompanist of Paul Reimers, famous lieder singer of Germany. The great amount of concert and teaching experience in the United States and Germany, together with a beautiful voice, qualify Miss Riley for the position she now holds and the Junior League is eager to listen to her. The arts and interests committee has arranged to have six lectures in the series at various private homes six successive Tuesday mornings. Mrs. Thomas Tift has very kindly consented to have the first lecture in her home, 235 The Prado, this morning at 10:30, and the members are intensely interested in the history of music and who, perhaps, would like to store up knowledge that may be passed on to our children, are urged to attend.

The complete course is as follows: February 9—1. "What We Find in Music." Early beginning up to the seventeenth century and including folk music and minnesingers. At the home of Mrs. Thomas Tift, 235 The Prado. February 16—2. "Music—Secular and Sacred." Introducing opera, 1600, as an outgrowth of folk music—and discussing Bach, as a composer of church music. At the home of Mrs. Frederick Hodgson, 851 Clifton road. February 23—3. "Sonata and Symphony." Bringing in the earliest attempts at a form in music, and the third lesson in the series will take place tomorrow, February 10, from 2 to 3 p. m., at the Family Welfare Society headquarters, 11 Pryor street. Miss Angela Cox, who has been working with Junior League volunteers in St. Louis, is coming to Atlanta, will be in charge of the third and fourth lectures in the course. Tomorrow she will take up the subject of interviewing and will instruct her pupils in tactful methods of handling delicate situations connected with case work.

Mrs. W. Fulghum, who is in charge of the Junior League girls working with the Family Welfare, announces that the course is entirely open to the general public, and anyone who attends will be cordially received.

Miss Clarkson To Wed John G. Pollard Jr.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 8.—Justice and Mrs. Heriot Clarkson, of Charlotte and Raleigh, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to John Garland Pollard Jr., of Raleigh. Miss Clarkson is the only daughter of Justice Clarkson, of the supreme court of North Carolina, and Mrs. Clarkson. She attended St. Mary's school at Raleigh, and graduated with first honor at Sophie Newcomb College, Tulane University, New Orleans.

Mr. Pollard is the eldest son of Governor John Garland Pollard, of Virginia, and Mrs. Pollard. He is a graduate of William and Mary College, a Phi Beta Kappa and received his doctorate from the Harvard Business school. His aunts in Atlanta are Mrs. J. W. Willis and Mrs. R. L. Turman.

Helps Women Avoid Pains

MORE than half a century of successful use has shown that Cardui helps women to avoid much that they formerly suffered—misery from minor functional disturbances, monthly suffering due to a weakened condition. Cardui acts as a tonic for the system, and tends to improve the general health. It is of especial value to weak, nervous, run-down women, needing just such a strengthening medicine. Those who suffer every month should build up their strength to assist in the natural correction of the painful condition. When you need Cardui, buy a bottle and take it regularly and persistently. Perhaps several bottles will be needed. Finally, may you share the enthusiasm of the thousands of women who have said: "Cardui helped me!"

'PASSION OF JOAN OF ARC' TO SHOW AT CLUB TONIGHT

Foreign Films, organization of prominent Atlantans, presents the fourth in its series of outstanding European motion pictures at the Woman's Club auditorium tonight at 8:30. The picture is "The Passion of Joan of Arc," described by the New York Daily News as "artistic perfection." The title role is taken by the famous French actress, Mlle. Falconetti, whose characterization of the Maid of Orleans has been described as one of the greatest pieces of screen work by any actress. She does not resort to needless gesture but relies almost entirely upon her marvelous power of facial expression to convey her emotions.

As a prologue to the picture, Miss Helen Coyne Riley and Mrs. George McKee, widely known Atlanta musicians, will sing a group of French songs. The picture centers around the last day of life of Joan of Arc. It pays little heed to background nor does it dwell upon historical events. It gathers its power entirely from Joan's imprisonment, trial and death, becoming a tense dramatic study of emotional reactions.

THEATER GUILD SENDS NEW SHAW PLAY HERE

Of vastly more than usual interest and importance in the theater news of Atlanta is the announcement by the Paramount theater of the presentation there of George Bernard Shaw's latest comedy, "The Apple Cart," on Friday and Saturday with a matinee Saturday.

The play is to be presented in Atlanta at special arrangements with the New York Theater Guild. The cast, which is headed by the eminent English actor, Boyd Irwin, is made up entirely of players of many years' standing both on the English and American speaking stage. In casting the "Apple Cart" over 300 actors and actresses were interviewed. The production, all futuristic, will be an elaborate one. The costumes, stage settings and furniture have all been designed in a mode that might be imagined to be in vogue 30 years hence and will be as interesting, almost, as the idea of the play itself.

The story has to do with British politics some 30 years from now and all the Shavian satire is brought into the play in deriding present-day conditions under the guise of future happiness.

Hillcrest Children Visit Capitol Today

This afternoon the young folks at the Hillcrest Cottages will be guests of The Constitution at the Capitol theater to see "The Unexpected Father," in which Little Cora Sue Collins, a remarkable four-year-old child actress, plays a prominent part, along with the comedy team of Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts. Little Miss Collins, in the picture, is named Fudge, has only a make-shift home, and constantly dreams of her "daddy" as a tall man, whom she loves very much. She suddenly meets Summerville and at once adopts him, and before the play has ended he has adopted her, found happiness with Zasu Pitts, whom he has engaged as a nurse for the little child.

Saturday afternoon the youngsters at the Hebrew Orphans' home were guests of The Constitution, about 25 being in the party, and reported themselves as well entertained at this farce comedy of ups, mishaps and an occasional tear.

"Around the World in 80 Minutes" With Douglas Fairbanks is exactly what the name implies—no more and no less. It is a travelogue with Fairbanks talking all the time—sometimes when he is seen on the screen and sometimes offstage, as it were. And in view of the fact that the circumnavigating trip is taken in, to be exact, 78 minutes—yes, we timed it Monday—the voyager by proxy of course doesn't see a lot of things that this old world has to offer the international tourist in the flesh.

What the picture does show, however, is interesting and, with the magic name of Fairbanks as the open sesame, the audience is shown quite a few things that the average patron of Mister Cook's tours never sees. So perhaps the average is not so bad. Frankly, there were people in the audience Monday afternoon who seemed to get quite a kick out of the production while, just as frankly, it left a soporific effect on others. It all depends on the kind of personality you are. If you are vitally interested in strange spots on this globe of ours and have a weakness for travelogues with monologues strangely reminiscent of Graham McNamee, you'll revel in it. On the other hand if you like your pictures packed with drama, sex problems or real comedy, it'll bore you.

There are newscast, comedy and cartoon to complete the bill.

YOUTHFUL DANCE FROCK.
Pattern No. 145-A.

Simplified illustrated instructions for cutting and sewing are included with each pattern. They give complete directions for making these dresses.

Here is a youthful dance frock cut on easy-to-make lines. The surplice blouse has a gaily flared cape collar and slight fullness as a new and delightful contrast to the severely modeled lines of the formal gown. The skirt is well fitted over the hips in scalloped outline, concentrating fullness low on the figure to give that "gay nineties" silhouette. For truly formal occasions, satin or transparent velvet are suggested or some of the new spangled sheer fabrics, which appear to be dusted with little points of light. For the informal occasion, heavy crepe or georgette or chiffon in interesting colors are suggested.

Designed in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 26 requires 51-2 yards of 36-inch fabric or 51-4 yards of 29-inch fabric.

To get a pattern of this model send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps. Please write very plainly your name and address, style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Our new fashion magazine with color supplement and Paris style news is now available, for 15 cents.

Culbertson on Contract Refusing Finesses

BY ELY CULBERTSON.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A finesse in Contract Bridge is an effort to take advantage of the position of adversely held honors to make an additional trick in the suit. Frequently it is an essential element in the successful management of a hand, but as a finesse has only an even chance of winning, it should not be taken if there is a better way of playing the hand.

The hand below was played by one of the world's acknowledged master Contract players and he found a way, not apparent on the face of the cards, of avoiding a finesse which, if taken, would have cost him his contract.

Burgess Children's Stories

MONKEY-FACE LOOKS AROUND.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

Be not too satisfied lest you become the slave of what you do.
—Old Mother Nature.

Monkey-face the Barn Owl had been living quite a bit south of where he now was. He hadn't been living' way down in the Sunny South. No, it hadn't been as far as that. It had been just far enough so that in winter there was seldom snow, and when snow did fall it seldom lasted long. He had lived there all his life, and so had Mrs. Monkey-face lived all of hers there. They had expected to live there always. They were perfectly satisfied until they gradually began to realize that there were too many of their family living in that neighborhood. It had gotten so that it required real hunting to get enough food for themselves, not to mention the babies that would come along in the spring.

When Monkey-face did finally start out to look for a new home he did not do it deliberately. In his nightly hunt for food he had extended his range farther and farther. He had done this in all directions, but especially toward the north. (One night he went to this direction farther than he ever had before and morning found him farther from home than he cared to fly in daylight. He spent that day in an old barn. When evening came and he started hunting he drifted still farther in that direction, and because he found plenty of Mice decided to stay there until he had a chance to look around more thoroughly.

"I'll stay here a while, and look around," said Monkey-face to himself. "There should be good hunting around here when the snow goes unless it happens that already there are too many hunters. With Kats and Mice in this barn and around other barns in the neighborhood, with Meadow Mice in the grass of the Green Meadows, the Old Pasture and the Old Orchard and with Wood Mice in the Green Forest, not to mention an occasional careless bird by way of variety, there should be a good living hereabouts. I am sure Mrs. Monkey-face would enjoy it. If only I can get her to come here and see for herself!" Monkey-face sighed. It sounded like a kiss, but it really was a sigh.

The more he looked around, and he did look around very thoroughly as many of the smaller people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest could tell you if they would, the more decided he grew in favor of making his home there. Finally early one evening he headed straight for his old home and Mrs. Monkey-face.

You Can Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach this way

Do Just These Two Simple Things—Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off fat a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—on a full stomach, without a hungry moment. Thus it is foolish now to say fat.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad Salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloats.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute!

ute! Cut down on fats, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clear your system of toxins. "The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food goes the work.—(adv.)

SUIT OF DR. SUTTON TO BE ARIED IN MACON

Airing of the dispute between Dr. J. M. Sutton, state veterinarian, and Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, over the control of $75,000 allocated by the general assembly to veterinary work, will take place at Macon before Judge Malcolm Jones on February 18, W. J. Crowe, one of Sutton's attorneys, said Monday.

After Judge Eschol Graham, in Telfair court, disqualified himself because of kinship to one of the parties in interest, hearing on both the Sutton injunction and mandamus suits against Talmadge were set for February 10. Later developed, Crowe said, that 10 days must elapse between the time a case is transferred to another jurisdiction and the time it is heard.

Much Interest Manifested in Meeting To Be Held at College Park.

Twenty-one aspirants for the seven contested posts in the Fulton county democratic primary of March 9 will launch their offensives at a rally at 8 o'clock tonight at the College Park auditorium.

The meeting, billed as a meeting in the interest of Captain H. M. Patton, one of the five contenders for the sheriff's position, will be a general affair to which all candidates have been invited.

Interest in the rally has been manifested as it will be the first test of strength and the first appearance of many on the stump.

Despite the fact that registration lists were supposed to close at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, W. S. Richardson, tax collector and registrar, kept his office open after that time in order to handle those who arrived at the courthouse before 5 o'clock. Large crowds kept the office busy all day.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief, even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics. From any drugstore, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

TARZAN AND THE ANT MEN No. 14

© 1932, By Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Within the dim interior of the strange rocky chamber where Tarzan the First Woman had deposited him, Tarzan immediately became the center of interest to the Alali young. They crowded about his unconscious figure, examining him, turned him over, poked and poked him. Being low in the scale of human evolution, nothing held their interest overlong. Soon they tired of Tarzan, and all trooped into the sunlit courtyard. Fortunately for the ape-man, his fall from the wrecked biplane had been broken by the supple branches directly in the path of his descent.

The happy result of his lucky fall was that he suffered only a slight concussion of the brain. Already he was slowly regaining consciousness. Shortly after the Alali young had left him, his eyes opened; his breathing was normal, as if he had just emerged from a deep but natural sleep, with only a dull ache in his head as a reminder of his accident. Sitting up, he looked about the crude shelter constructed of great slabs of stone. Slowly he rose and crossed to an opening where he had seen sunlight, and here the fresh air further revived him.

Tarzan of the Apes looked out upon a narrow courtyard and saw in its shadows and sunlight the Alali squatting about. He looked at them in evident puzzlement. What were they? How had he come into this enclosure? Was it a prison? Running his fingers through his shock of black hair in a characteristic gesture of perplexity, he shook his head. He recalled the ending of his first solo flight in the biplane, even his fall through the foliage of the great tree. Beyond that, all was a blank. He stood a moment regarding the Alali, who were unaware of his gaze upon them.

Then he stepped boldly out into the courtyard before them. Immediately they clustered about him, the girls pushing the boys aside and coming boldly close. Tarzan spoke to them in every dialect he knew, but they made no response aside from moving their bodies and shoulders and jerking their heads. This, the ape-man recognized, was a sort of sign language among them. Presently they again lost interest and slouched back to their lounging, leaving Tarzan to pace the courtyard, as his keen eyes searched it for a possible avenue of escape.
